

Changent Theory of Change

Children and families deserve access to effective, relationship-based services to help them grow and thrive where they live. That's why Changent partners with communities to deliver scalable programs with measurable impact.

Communities:

Collaborating with community members to build long-term partnerships to promote child and family well-being through programs with impact.

Relationship Based Services:

Increasing the availability and access to programs with impact in communities with demonstrated health inequities.

Organizations:

Providing clinical, program and technical consultation and support services to maintain ongoing program integrity and achieve positive outcomes for families.

Systems Change:

Advocating for sustainable systems that support the health and well-being of families and communities.

Our Programs with Impact -

Child First

Provides mental health intervention and support services through a proven home visiting model that builds and strengthens relationships between caregivers and their children

Nurse-Family Partnership

Provides specialized health and development support during pregnancy and the earliest years of a child's life that improves pregnancy outcomes and promotes healthy well-being.